

Movie Reflections

Movie - Sing

Buster Moon leads a host of hopeful performers into a huge misguided venture to give one last shot at making his failing theater a success! Buster auditions a host of funny characters to perform in a talent show, which turns out to be a journey of discovery for each one of the cast. This film is heart warming and full of imagination, with a very happy ending.

Creativity is a gift

The set that Buster is inspired to create with the squid is pretty impressive.

What would you say was the most creative thing you have seen or experienced?

What has been the most creative thing you have done or been a part of?

Coming together can create something better

When the characters pull together to restore the theatre after the flood and collapse of much of the building, they have a real sense of achievement.

When have you come together and felt a sense of achievement?

Have you ever had a setback that has needed help to restore it or something?

Honesty is the best policy

A printing mistake was made and instead of 'losing face' and confessing to this, Buster goes along with a lie and is not completely honest with the contestants. He promised a massive cash prize that he didn't have which leads to lots of complications and unnecessary hurt for all.

Do you think it is easier to tell the truth or cover mistakes up?

Have you ever made a mistake and instead of quickly sorting something out you have made it worse and in what way?
